

Open a book to the last page. Find the last line and make it the first line of your writing today.

